

A Poem for Mrs Hutchinson

The parking at our school is atrocious,
Most of the drivers are quite precocious:
They park on the pavement and ignore the Lines

If Mrs Hutchinson had her way they'd all get fines.

They like to park close because they are lazy.

This endangers us - children, they must be crazy

The lollipop lady helps us across the road

Drivers really must obey the <sup>highway</sup> highway code.
